SERVICED ACCOMMODATION

Serviced accommodation are structures that offer meals and other amenities hotels offer room, food, spas and gyms, hairdressing salons, room service, laundry service, airport transfer and valet parking. Hotels are classified according to their function or location and for the type of service provided, so we have: business and conference hotels, airport hotels, boutique hotels, budget hotels and eco hotels.

THE HOTEL:

Hotels also offer various types of board options:

THE RESORT: resorts offer services for the guests who are looking for relaxation and entertainment. Resort offers an all-inclusive option.

B&B that offer services but the only meal provided is breakfast, B&B are similar to GUESTHOUSES but guesthouses are usually bigger and offer more services and public area for guests.

PENSIONS where guests can choose to have all or just some meals.

FARMHOUSES where guests can taste typical food and can learn the farm's activities.

CHALETS that are ideal for tourists who love nature, Chalets are situated in mountain resorts. Another type of serviced accommodation is the Motel that offers services quite basic.

INNS that were the first travellers' accommodation dating back to medieval, now these are pub which provide bed and breakfast, usually whit lunch.